Rural Healthcare Providers Diabetes Update Slated for Jerome

The Diabetes Center Foundation is sponsoring another “Rural Healthcare Providers Diabetes Update” for health care providers on Thursday, April 19, from 9 a.m.- 2 p.m. This is in partnership with South Central District Health and St. Benedicts Family Medical Center. The seminar will be held at the Best Western Sawtooth Inn located at 2653 South Lincoln Avenue in Jerome.

This seminar features Dr. Joel Newton, periodontist; Dr. Ian Ross Donald, obstetrician/gynecologist; and Dr. James Chamberlain and Dr. Rob Jones, endocrinologists. Topics include: gestational diabetes, diabetes and periodontal disease, combination of treatment therapies, and management of late onset of Type 1 diabetes.

The seminar costs $20 due at pre-registration to hold your spot. If you attend on April 19th, you may use that money for continuing education credits or it may be donated to the Diabetes Center Foundation. Four hours of continuing medical education (CME) have been applied for, as well as four hours of continuing education units (CEU) for nurses, dieticians, pharmacists, and physical therapists.

Pre-registration is required. Please make your check payable to Diabetes Center Foundation and mail to Diabetes Center Foundation at 5651 US Highway 93, Jerome, Idaho 83338. If you have any questions about the seminar, please call Susie Beem at 737-5946.
